

COGNITIVE BEHAVIORAL THERAPY (CBT) – SESSION 14

New Case: Rohan (26 y/o) – Contamination OCD + Checking

Highly Detailed – Realistic Style

SESSION INFORMATION

|                   |                                                      |                   |                                              |
|-------------------|------------------------------------------------------|-------------------|----------------------------------------------|
| Client:    | Rohan (26 years, Male, Software Engineer, Bangalore) | Therapist: | Dr. A.                                       |
| Session #: | 14 of 18–20                                          | Focus:     | Continuing ERP + Relapse Prevention Planning |

PRE-SESSION THERAPIST NOTES

Client arrived looking more confident and engaged than previous sessions. He practiced the public surface exposure at home 1 time with good habituation. He reported that anxiety is decreasing faster with repeated practice and that he is delaying other compulsions more consistently. He continues to use labeling effectively. He also reviewed his Early Warning Signs and Action Plan daily. Today's plan: Review home ERP practice and Action Plan use, continue ERP if needed, deepen relapse prevention planning, reinforce progress and coping skills, and assign new homework. Maintain supportive and encouraging approach.

SESSION START – HOMEWORK REVIEW

Therapist: Good morning, Rohan. How has your week been? I'm curious to hear how the public surface exposure went and how reviewing your Action Plan felt.

Client: (speaking with more confidence) It went quite well. I practiced it one time. Anxiety went up to around 60–65 and took about 18–20 minutes to come down significantly. I was able to resist washing for over 30 minutes. It was hard at first, but the anxiety came down gradually. I also reviewed my Early Warning Signs and Action Plan every day. It helped me feel more prepared. I noticed that when I reviewed the plan, I felt calmer even on days when I had some contamination thoughts.

Therapist: That's excellent continued progress with the exposure, and very good engagement with the Action Plan. Reviewing it daily seems to have helped you feel more grounded. You mentioned feeling calmer even when thoughts came up — that's a meaningful benefit of having a clear plan. How are you feeling about where we are now?

Client: I feel more confident. I still have some fear about certain situations, but I feel much more capable of handling them now. I also feel more hopeful about maintaining my progress after therapy ends.

CONTINUING ERP + RELAPSE PREVENTION PLANNING

Therapist: Since you're making consistent progress and we're approaching the later stages of therapy, I'd like to continue refining your relapse prevention plan while also doing one more ERP practice if you're ready. Your hierarchy had one final challenging item: touching a public surface and resisting washing for 30+ minutes — which you already practiced successfully. How do you feel about where we are?

Client: I think I've made good progress. I feel more confident in daily life. I still want to keep practicing the higher items occasionally to stay sharp, but I feel ready to focus more on maintenance planning now.

Therapist: That's a very realistic and mature perspective. We can continue light ERP practice while shifting more focus to building your long-term maintenance plan. This way, you'll feel equipped both to keep progressing and to handle any future difficulties after therapy ends.

HOMEWORK ASSIGNMENT

Therapist: For this week:

1. Continue practicing the public surface exposure at home (1 time)
2. Continue practicing previous hierarchy items as needed (especially ones that still cause some anxiety)
3. Continue labeling and monitoring
4. Review your Early Warning Signs and Action Plan daily and note any situations where you used it

Client: I'll try reviewing the plan daily and note when I use it. I want to make sure I can maintain this progress.

Therapist: Excellent. We'll review everything next session.

SESSION SUMMARY & FEEDBACK

Therapist: Today we reviewed your strong progress at home, discussed where we are in therapy, and continued building your relapse prevention plan. How are you feeling about today's session?

Client: I feel good. I'm proud of how far I've come, and I like that we're focusing on how to keep this progress going after therapy ends. I feel more confident now.

Therapist: That's wonderful to hear. Any questions before we finish?

Client: Not really.

POST-SESSION THERAPIST NOTES

- Client showed continued strong progress in ERP and good engagement with relapse prevention planning.
- Client reported increased confidence in daily life and desire to maintain gains post-therapy.
- Motivation and engagement remain high. Client is shifting focus toward long-term maintenance.

- Next session: Review home ERP practice and Action Plan use, continue ERP if needed, deepen relapse prevention planning, reinforce coping skills and self-compassion.

Disclaimer: This is a completely fictional but realistic simulation created solely for educational and AI training purposes. It does not represent any real person or therapy.