

COGNITIVE BEHAVIORAL THERAPY (CBT) – SESSION 15

Final Consolidation & Preparing for Termination Fictional Educational Example — Full Detailed

SESSION INFORMATION

Client:	RK (35 y/o Male)	Therapist:	Dr. A.
Session #:	15 of 16	Focus:	Final consolidation + Preparing for termination

PRE-SESSION THERAPIST NOTES

This is the penultimate session. Client has made excellent, stable progress. Belief in the old perfectionistic thought remains low (~20%). He has been consistently using his Maintenance Plan and Coping Card. Today we will do final consolidation of all tools, review the complete relapse prevention plan, address any remaining concerns about termination, and prepare him for the final session next week.

SESSION START & HOMEWORK REVIEW

Therapist: Good morning, RK. This is our second-to-last session. How has your week been?

Client: It was good. I've been using everything we've worked on — the balanced belief, Worry Postponement, and the Maintenance Plan. I also did the maintenance experiment. I feel ready for next week being the last one, but I'll miss these sessions.

Therapist: That mix of readiness and sadness is very normal. Let's start by reviewing your homework — especially the monthly self-check-in plan you wrote.

Client: I wrote it down. Once a month I'll ask myself: "Am I still using my tools? Have any early warning signs returned? Am I still doing my monthly maintenance experiment?" I put a reminder in my phone calendar.

Therapist: That's excellent. Having a regular self-check-in is one of the best ways to stay on track long-term.

FINAL CONSOLIDATION OF TOOLS

Therapist: As we prepare for the final session, let's do a quick review of all the main tools you now have:

- Thought Records & Balanced Belief — for catching and challenging unhelpful thoughts
- Worry Time / Worry Postponement — for containing daily worry
- Behavioral Experiments — for testing fears in real life
- Problem-Solving Steps — for when you feel stuck
- Coping Card & Action Plan — for when early warning signs appear
- Maintenance Plan & Monthly Self-Check-ins — for long-term maintenance

Therapist: Which of these do you think you will use the most after therapy ends?

Client: Probably the balanced belief and Worry Postponement on a daily basis, and the Coping Card + Action Plan when I notice warning signs. The monthly maintenance experiments and self-check-ins will help me stay consistent.

ADDRESSING TERMINATION FEELINGS

Therapist: Next week is our final session. How are you feeling about that?

Client: I feel proud of everything we've done, but I'll miss having this regular space. At the same time, I also feel ready to try managing on my own with the tools I have now.

Therapist: That's a very healthy and realistic way to feel. It's normal to feel both proud and a little sad about ending. Remember, you also have booster sessions scheduled, so it's not a complete goodbye.

HOMEWORK ASSIGNMENT

Therapist: For this final week before our last session:

1. Continue daily diary + Worry Time / Postponement
2. Practice using your full Maintenance Plan and Coping Card
3. Do one final maintenance behavioral experiment this week
4. Write down any remaining questions or concerns you want to discuss in our final session

SESSION SUMMARY & FEEDBACK

Therapist: Today we did a final consolidation of all your tools and talked openly about ending therapy. You've done incredible work. How are you feeling as we head into the last session?

Client: I feel ready. I know I have good tools, and I also know I can reach out for a booster if needed. I'm proud of how far I've come.

Therapist: That's wonderful to hear. Any questions before we finish today?

Client: No, I'm clear. I'll see you next week for the final one.

POST-SESSION THERAPIST NOTES

- Client demonstrating excellent readiness for termination while appropriately acknowledging mixed feelings.
- All core tools are well consolidated and personalized.
- Belief in old core thought remains low and stable.
- Next session (16): Final termination session — comprehensive review, final relapse prevention refinement, emotional closure, and scheduling of booster sessions.

Disclaimer: This is a completely fictional but realistic simulation created solely for educational and AI training purposes. It does not represent any real person or therapy.