

COGNITIVE BEHAVIORAL THERAPY (CBT) – SESSION 16 (FINAL)

New Patient: Meera – Highly Detailed Version
Full Detailed – Realistic Style with Greater Depth

SESSION INFORMATION

Client:	Meera (28 years, Female, High School Teacher, Therapist)	Therapist:	Dr. A.
Session #:	16 of 16–18 (Final)	Focus:	Termination, Review & Long-Term Maintenance

PRE-SESSION THERAPIST NOTES

This is the final termination session. Client has made steady, realistic progress throughout the 16 sessions despite very low energy and motivation. She has developed strong, personalized tools and a clear relapse prevention / maintenance plan. Today we will do a comprehensive review of progress since Session 1, celebrate achievements, finalize the maintenance plan, provide emotional closure, and formally end the main course of therapy while confirming booster sessions.

SESSION START – OPENING & MOOD CHECK

Therapist: Good morning, Meera. Today is our final session. How are you feeling as we begin?

Client: (speaking slowly, looking down) A bit emotional. I feel proud that I kept coming even when it was very hard, but I'll miss these sessions. At the same time, I also feel ready.

Therapist: (speaking gently) That combination of pride, sadness, and readiness is very normal and healthy. We'll take time today to honor the work you've done and make sure you feel fully equipped moving forward.

COMPREHENSIVE PROGRESS REVIEW

Therapist: Let's take a moment to look back at where we started. When you first came in, your BDI-II was 23 (moderate depression) and your belief in "I'm not good enough as a teacher" was around 80%. Where are those numbers now?

Client: BDI-II is around 12–13 now, and the old belief is around 60–65%. I still feel tired a lot, but I sleep a bit better, I'm not as numb as before, and I can notice small things I do each day. I feel like I have a bit more control over my thoughts.

Therapist: Those are meaningful changes, especially given how low your energy has been. What do you think has been the single most important thing that helped create these changes?

Client: The small activities and noticing what I already do. It helped me see that I'm not completely failing. The balanced thought also helped, even if I don't fully believe it yet.

FINAL RELAPSE PREVENTION & MAINTENANCE REVIEW

Therapist: Let's do one final review of your complete maintenance plan.

Early Warning Signs: Increased fatigue and desire to stay in bed, loss of interest in even small activities, increased negative thoughts about being a bad teacher, sleep getting more disturbed, withdrawing more from colleagues and friends.

Top Coping Strategies: Doing very small activities even when motivation is low, using the balanced thought when negative thoughts appear, talking to someone (even briefly) instead of completely withdrawing, noticing small things you did accomplish, monthly maintenance experiments.

Action Plan if symptoms return: Increase use of daily diary + very small activities for 1 week → Review Early Warning Signs list and Coping Card daily → Talk to someone instead of withdrawing → If symptoms do not improve after 7–10 days or significantly affect work/relationships → Contact therapist for a booster session.

Long-term Maintenance: Monthly self-check-ins + one maintenance behavioral experiment per month for the first 6 months.

Booster Sessions: One at 6 weeks and one at 3 months after today.

Therapist: This is a very complete and personalized plan. How confident do you feel about using it?

Client: I feel confident. I know what to watch for and exactly what to do if I need to.

EMOTIONAL CLOSURE

Therapist: As we come to the end of our work together, is there anything you want to say or ask?

Client: I just want to say thank you. Even when I felt like nothing was changing, you kept showing up and helping me see things differently. I feel like I have a bit more control now.

Therapist: Thank you, Meera. It has been a privilege to work with you. You did the hard work — showing up every week even when it was exhausting, being honest, and practicing between sessions. The changes you've made are because of your effort. I'm very proud of you.

Client: That means a lot. I'll miss this, but I'm also ready.

FINAL WORDS & BOOSTER CONFIRMATION

Therapist: Before we end, let's confirm your booster sessions:

- Booster Session 1: 6 weeks from today
- Booster Session 2: 3 months from today

Therapist: You can always reach out earlier if needed. You now have everything you need to continue growing. I have complete confidence in you.

Client: Thank you. I'll see you in 6 weeks for the first booster.
